Description: Learning JavaScript is hell because of two problems. I remove the problems, and you start having fun. The first problem is retention. You remember only ten or twenty percent of what you read. That spells failure. To become fluent in a computer language, you have to retain pretty much everything. How can you retain everything? Only by constantly being asked...

Review: Like others here I've tried the other online coding schools. So I have some coding experience even if it's not much. The other online coding resources leave a lot to be desired in explanation and examples and they always seem to have a missing link in the material. You know, the material you need to bridge the gap, and actually understand what is...
